

Faculty of Allied Health Science Department of Audiology and Speech Language Pathology

ALUMNI DETAILS

Aditi Malik, an accomplished alumna of the Department of Audiology and Speech-Language Pathology, SGT University (Batch 2019–23), is currently contributing her expertise at Max Hospital, Patparganj, New Delhi. With a strong foundation built at SGT University and a passion for communication sciences, Aditi has established herself as a skilled professional in the field. Her role involves making a real difference in patients' lives—helping individuals overcome speech and hearing challenges with compassion and clinical excellence.

Reja Ado, a proud alumna of SGT University's Audiology and Speech-Language Pathology department, is currently serving at Toko Rehabilitation Centre in Arunachal Pradesh. she is a rising professional making a meaningful difference in the lives of individuals with communication and hearing challenges. Known for her empathy, clinical precision, and unwavering commitment, Reja's journey from the classrooms of SGT to the serene landscapes of Arunachal is a testament to her dedication to inclusive and accessible healthcare. Her work not only empowers her patients but also inspires fellow graduates to lead with heart and purpose.

Charu Sharma, a dynamic alumna of SGT University's Audiology and Speech-Language Pathology program (Batch 2019–23), is currently excelling at Hear Clear, Karol Bagh, New Delhi. Her strong academic foundation, combined with hands-on clinical expertise, allows her to deliver impactful care to individuals with speech and hearing challenges. A true role model for aspiring audiologists and speech-language pathologists, Charu's journey is one of excellence and empathy.

Anshika Sinha, a proud alumna of SGT University's Department of Audiology and Speech-Language Pathology (Batch 2019–23), is currently making her mark at Amplifon India Pvt. Ltd. in Gujarat. She is building a career rooted in compassion, clinical excellence, and the science of sound. At Amplifon, a global leader in hearing care, Anshika plays a vital role in transforming the auditory health of her clients—empowering them to reconnect with the world around them. Her dedication, diagnostic skills, and patient-centered approach highlight the values instilled during her academic journey at SGT University.

Garima Gautam, an alumna of the 2019–2023 batch from the Department of Audiology and Speech-Language Pathology, Faculty of Allied Health Sciences, SGT University, is currently working at Genesis Neurogen, Krishna Nagar. Throughout her academic journey at SGT University, she demonstrated a strong foundation in both theoretical knowledge and clinical practice, preparing her to contribute effectively in the field of audiology and speech-language pathology. Her current role reflects her dedication to supporting individuals with communication and neurological challenges, and she continues to uphold the values and training imparted by the university.

Anamika Kumari, an alumna of the 2019–2023 batch from the Department of Audiology and Speech-Language Pathology, Faculty of Allied Health Sciences, SGT University, is currently associated with Fairfield Hearing Clinic, New Delhi. During her time at SGT University, she built a strong academic and clinical foundation, enabling her to deliver quality care in the assessment and management of hearing and speech-language disorders. Her work at Fairfield Hearing Clinic reflects her commitment to improving communication outcomes and enhancing the quality of life for individuals with auditory and speech challenges.

Kanak Kamboj, an alumna of the 2019–2023 batch from the Department of Audiology and Speech-Language Pathology, Faculty of Allied Health Sciences, SGT University, is currently working at Lissun Sunshine, Sector 51, Gurgaon. Throughout her academic journey at SGT University, she exhibited a strong grasp of clinical and theoretical aspects of audiology and speech-language pathology. Her role at Lissun Sunshine highlights her dedication to supporting individuals with communication and developmental needs, and she continues to contribute meaningfully to the field with compassion and professionalism.

Purujit Parashar, an alumnus of the 2019–2023 batch from the Department of Audiology and Speech-Language Pathology, Faculty of Allied Health Sciences, SGT University, is currently associated with Aura Hearing Care Pvt. Ltd., Delhi NCR. During his time at SGT University, he developed a solid foundation in audiological assessment, hearing aid management, and speech-language rehabilitation. His current role at Aura Hearing Care reflects his commitment to delivering quality hearing healthcare and enhancing communication outcomes for individuals across age groups.